Protected before every card payment

Rent	$6,850	1st · from Jessica's month-end check
Car (Wells Fargo)	$610	8th · Sep paid Aug 31 · ends Dec 2026
Discover (0% promo)	$153	14th · $7,818 at 0% to Jul 17, 2027 · Sep paid · payoff Feb 27 · don't charge to it (limit $8,000)
IRS installment	$400	28th · $15,195 owed (TY2023–25) · ends with the Jan 27 payoff

SoFi loan	$800	20th · ends with the Dec 27 payoff
Student loan	$750	28th · continues (income-driven plan)
Card minimums	≈ $1,300–1,700/mo	Oct–Dec, on cards still waiting (see the statements table) · Sep minimums already paid
Living allowance	$4,500/mo	≈ $150/day · from checking (debit), not a card
Checking floor	$500	never plan a payment that leaves less

Rules of the road

- Payoffs are the live balance, not the round number. Open the card app that day and pay what it shows; the figures here include estimated interest to the date.
- No new charges on any card that carries a balance. None of them has a grace period, so every purchase accrues interest from the day it posts. Day-to-day spending comes out of checking with the debit card.
- Paying a statement in full does not stop the interest while a remainder stays on the card; only a $0 balance does. Kill cards whole, highest rate first, and pay just the minimum on the ones still waiting.
- Rent safety on Sep 27. Checking sits near $4,300 after the payments ($3,000 after the Sep 28 student loan + IRS) before Jessica's Sep 30 check. If rent could draft before her pay posts, make only the three payoffs on the 27th ($20,330) and send the $2,200 to Biz Plat on the 30th once her check clears. Cost: about $6 of interest.
- Expect a trailing-interest charge on each card the statement after its payoff, typically $30–$100. Pay it when it posts — the grace period only returns once a statement closes at $0; the Jan 27 line sweeps whatever remains.
- Loans need a payoff quote. SoFi and Wells Fargo charge per-diem interest; get the quote a few days before Dec 27 and Jan 27 and pay that figure. The IRS balance updates daily in your online account; pay what it shows on Jan 27.
- The app is the truth. The Payoff page recomputes the funds check from live balances on every open; this sheet is the plan as of today.

Card statements, due dates and minimums (issuer apps, Sep 11)

CARD	STATEMENT	DUE	MIN NOW	BALANCE · APR	WHAT TO DO	INTEREST STOPS
Amex Business Gold ...1000	$18,809	Sep 15 (15th)	$0 paid	$18,999 · 29.2%	Minimum ≈ $648* on Oct 15 and Nov 15	Nov 27
Amex Business Platinum ... 1007	$16,648	Sep 16 (16th)	$0 paid	$16,738 · 29.2%	Minimum ≈ $568* on Oct 16	Oct 27
Citi AAdvantage Executive ... 8018	$13,464	Sep 20 (20th)	$0 paid	$18,299 · 28.49%	Minimum ≈ $185* on Oct 20 and Nov 20	Dec 15 (tail)
Amex Platinum ...1001	$9,427	Sep 21 (21st)	$0 paid	$10,802 · 29.2%	Nothing — killed Sep 27	Sep 27
Citi AAdvantage Platinum Select ...3208	$19,292	Sep 28 (28th)	$196 owed	$19,521 · 29.49%	Killed Sep 27, the day before the due date (covers the $196)	Sep 27
Chase Sapphire Preferred ... 0011	—	~5th* (confirm)	$0 paid	$13,016 · 25.74%	Minimum ≈ $325* on Oct 5, Nov 5, Dec 5	Dec 27
Discover (0% promo)	—	14th	$0 paid	$7,818 · 0%	$153 on the 14th each month	no interest

Due dates decide late fees and penalty rates, not interest: a card that carried a balance has no grace period, so interest accrues daily on the whole balance until it is zero. Minimums after the current cycle are estimates* from the last one paid; the Sapphire due day is inferred from payment history (Jun 1, Jul 2, Sep 4)*. Interest running today ≈ $75/day across the six carrying cards.

Cash walk if everything lands as planned: Sep 12 ≈ $1,430 after the payment · Sep 15 ≈ $3,430 after the payment · Sep 27 ≈ $4,300 · Sep 28 ≈ $3,000 after student loan + IRS · Sep 30 ≈ $10,600 · Oct 1 after rent ≈ $3,600 · Oct 14 ≈ $630 · Oct 15 paycheck. Checking never plans below ≈ $590 through the payoff.
