

Card Payoff Plan

Revised Saturday, September 12, 2026 from live balances and the card statements: checking $833 after the $9,500 to the 8018 · cards $88,085 · Jessica's Citi 1991 $5,787 (0% to Sep 28) · SoFi $13,741 · auto $10,518 · IRS $15,195 · Discover $7,818 (0% to Jul 17, 2027). The two Citi cards are in their grace period, so their statements are paid in full by the due dates and living spend floats on the 8018 interest-free. Interest-bearing debt gone January 27, 2027; debt-free February 27, 2027. Amounts marked * are estimates that include interest to the payment date.

Payments

DATE	PAY TO	AMOUNT	NOTES
Thu Sep 11	Citi AAdvantage Executive ... 8018	$9,500 ✓	Paid. The reimbursement to the August statement. The card is in grace (statement shows $0 interest), so this never pays interest.
Wed Sep 16	Citi AAdvantage Executive ... 8018	$3,963.71	Rest of the August statement from Jessica's Sep 15 check — before the Sunday Sep 20 due date, so the grace period holds.

Checking floor	$500	never plan a payment that leaves less

Rules of the road

- Payoffs are the live balance, not the round number. Open the card app that day and pay what it shows; the figures here include estimated interest to the date.
- Two kinds of card. The Citi 8018 and 3208 are in grace (their statements show $0 interest): pay the statement balance in full by the due date and nothing on it ever pays interest. Amex Biz Plat, Biz Gold, Sapphire, and the personal Platinum from Sep 21, are carrying: interest accrues daily on the whole balance, so they die whole-card, highest rate first, with only the minimum on the ones still waiting.
- Living goes on the 8018 and nowhere else. Its statement closes on the 24th and is due on the 20th; pay it in full from Jessica's 15th check every month. Miss one payment in full and the whole statement is charged interest from the start of its cycle.
- Jessica's Citi 1991: a true introductory 0%, not deferred interest. The statement says "Introductory Rate Expires 09/28/26" and shows $0 interest year to date; there is no clause charging interest back to the purchase dates. From Sep 29 the remaining balance simply starts accruing at the card's regular purchase APR (≈ 27.99%* until the October statement confirms it). Pay the $58 minimum by Oct 1; it is killed in rate order on Nov 27 / Dec 15.
- No new charges on any carrying card.
- Sep 16–20 is tight. The $3,963.71 leaves about $370 in checking after SoFi. If Jessica's check lands short or late, pay what you can by Friday Sep 18 and know the 8018 then loses its grace (about $10/day until it is paid). Rent on Oct 1 comes from Jessica's Sep 30 check.
- Rent safety on Sep 27. Checking sits near $2,600 after the payments ($1,450 after the Sep 28 student loan + IRS). If that feels thin, send the $3,500 to the Amex Platinum on Sep 30 once Jessica's check clears; cost about $8 of interest.
- Expect a trailing-interest charge on each card the statement after its payoff, typically $30–$100. Pay it when it posts — the grace period only returns once a statement closes at $0; the Jan 27 line sweeps whatever remains.
- Loans need a payoff quote. SoFi and Wells Fargo charge per-diem interest; get the quote a few days before Dec 27 and Jan 27 and pay that figure. The IRS balance updates daily in your online account; pay what it shows on Jan 27.
- The app is the truth. The Payoff page recomputes the funds check from live balances on every open; this sheet is the plan as of today.

"In grace" means the previous statement was paid in full, so the current statement carries no interest if it is paid in full by its due date (the Citi statements attached show $0 interest and a full payment of the previous balance). A carrying card has no grace period and accrues daily on the whole balance until it is zero. Minimums after the current cycle are estimates* from the last one paid. Interest running today on the carrying cards ≈ $48/day, rising by ≈ $4.40/day when Jessica's intro rate ends Sep 28.

Cash walk if everything lands as planned (living on the 8018, not from checking): Sep 11 ≈ $830 after the $9,500 · Sep 15 ≈ $5,130 · Sep 16 ≈ $1,170 · Sep 20 ≈ $370 after SoFi · Sep 27 ≈ $5,700 after the payments · Sep 28 ≈ $4,550 · Sep 30 ≈ $12,450 · Oct 1 after rent ≈ $5,600 · Oct 15 paycheck · Oct 20 ≈ $1,000 after the ≈ $9,400 8018 statement + SoFi · Oct 22 ≈ $700 · Oct 27 paycheck. Checking never plans below ≈ $370 (Sep 20) and ≈ $500 after that.
